Title of the Event: Applied Insight Symposium

Organized By: Research and Publication Cell, Oriental College of Education and Research, in collaboration with Oriental Education Society's College of Arts, Science and Commerce

Participants: B.Ed. staff and students of Oriental College of Education and Research; Arts, Science and Commerce students from the Degree College

Venue: Seminar Hall, 2nd Floor

Date: 13th May 2025

Objectives of the Symposium:

1. To foster research aptitude among B.Ed. and degree college students.
2. To provide a collaborative platform for interdisciplinary research exchange.
3. To encourage young researchers to share their innovative ideas and findings.
4. To enhance presentation and critical thinking skills among budding scholars.
5. To recognize and reward the best research practices.

Program Highlights:

The program commenced with a warm welcome and the inaugural speech by Dr. Priyanka Pandey, Principal, Oriental College of Education and Research. In her address, she emphasized the vital role of research in education and the need to nurture a research mindset from the foundational years of professional training. Following her, Dr. Abdul Aziz from the College of Arts, Science and Commerce elaborated on the importance of developing a strong research aptitude, highlighting how research is essential in all fields of study, not just academia.

Professor Anuradha then explained the objectives and significance of the Applied Insight Symposium, connecting the initiative to the broader educational goals of interdisciplinary integration and innovation. As a core part of the program, SYB.Ed. students from Oriental College of Education and Research presented five of their research projects, showcasing topics relevant to educational practices, classroom management, psychological assessment, and inclusive education. Each presentation was followed by an interactive Question and Answer session, engaging both faculty and students.

To appreciate the efforts and encourage quality research, the Best Paper Presentation Award was announced. The winners of the day were Ms. Dhruvi and Mrs. Jyoti, who were applauded for their innovative approach, clarity of expression, and research relevance.

Conclusion:

The Applied Insight Symposium proved to be a highly enriching experience for both the B.Ed. and degree college students. It successfully fulfilled its objectives of promoting research culture, offering a dynamic academic platform, and instilling confidence among participants. The Research and Publication Cell looks forward to organizing more such collaborative academic events in the future.
