Anti-Ragging And Anti Sexual-Harassment Cell

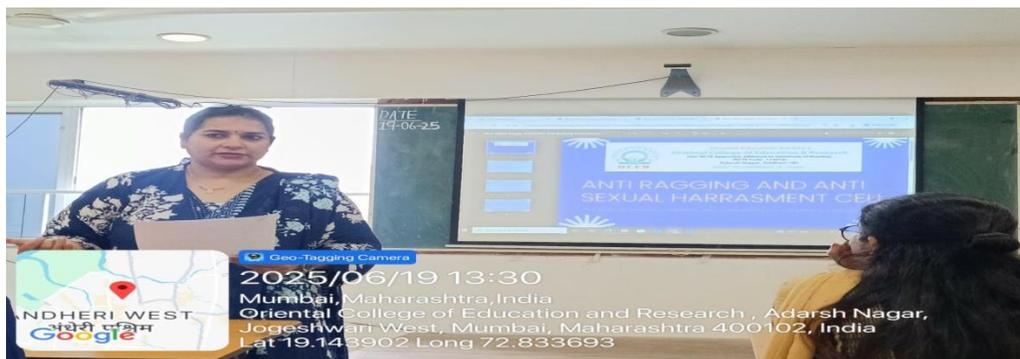

Organized

An Orientation Program

On 19th April 2025, the Anti-Ragging and Harassment Cell of Oriental College of Education and Research (OCER), Andheri, organized an orientation program for the First Year B.Ed. Second Semester students. The primary objective of the program was to create awareness about the roles and responsibilities of the cell, sensitize students about the issues of ragging and harassment, and guide them on how to deal with such situations if encountered. The session aimed to build a safe and inclusive environment within the institution.

Dr. Priyanka Pandey, Principal and Chairperson of the Cell, addressed the students and explained in detail the differences between ragging and harassment. She emphasized the need to remain vigilant and outlined the steps students should take to report such issues, ensuring them of the institution's commitment to confidentiality and swift action. She also highlighted the legal and disciplinary actions associated with such misconduct and urged students to support each other in maintaining a respectful and safe academic space.

Adding to the discussion, Mrs. Anita Yadav, Assistant Professor and member of the cell, shared her personal experiences, which helped students relate better to the emotional and psychological impact of such situations. Her honest sharing encouraged students to be more open and aware. The staff also provided the official email ID and contact number of the concerned committee members, enabling students to register complaints easily and confidently. The orientation concluded on a positive note, assuring students of a zero-tolerance policy towards ragging and harassment and reiterating the college's commitment to a respectful and secure campus culture.
